Course Description and Prerequisites
The course facilitates the personal/social development of the counselor through self-understanding (intrapersonal) and understanding of self and others (interpersonal). Knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary for effective human relationships and for creating a climate of mutual respect in systems will be emphasized.

This course has been deemed suitable by the UTRGV Counseling and Guidance Department for hybrid (i.e. part in-class, part-online) presentation. If the instructor opts to employ a hybrid model, the following minimal mandatory interactive features will comprise part of the online component:

- Student-to-student interaction through the use of discussion forums for posting of assignments with subsequent peer review.
- Instructor-to-student interaction through public posting of assignments with subsequent instructor feedback.
- Wikis for student collaboration in the creation of assignments that can be monitored for participation by the instructor.

This syllabus subject to change in order to better meet course objectives per discretion of instructor.
Other features of UTRGV’s learning management system, which may facilitate collaboration in the creation of assignments, will be made available in every online course shell to students, but not required. These include an open question-and-answer forum, chat, and videoconferencing.

Prerequisite: N/A

Rationale:
This course is designed to implement personal/social development in the counselor through knowledge, skills, attitudes, and experiences that promote cognitive, attitudinal and/or behavioral change for more effective living and helping.

Counselor Preparation Comprehensive Examination CPCE:
The Counseling Program schedules its Comprehensive Examination (CPCE) throughout the year. The purpose of the exam is to evaluate the student's mastery of graduation requirements of the Counseling & Guidance Program. Student’s first opportunity to take the exam will be during enrollment in practicum (COUN 6365). Effective January 2018 the testing dates will be the same at both campuses.

- The CPCE is schedule for both campuses the last Saturday in October, the last Saturday in March, and the second Saturday in July.

- Students must take the CPCE at their home campus, unless graduation is dependent on the third and final attempt and permission is granted by the department. (Exceptions must be made through the Program Coordinator to test at the different campus.)

- Additional information will be given in the COUN 6365: Practicum.

- The passing score will be based on the National Mean of first attempt for each student.

- Students who do not show mastery after three (3) attempts will be reviewed by the Goodness of Fit committee. Additional coursework and/or remediation maybe required before retesting.

The result of the exam is one of the following:

a) Pass with the recommendation that the student be cleared for graduation upon the completion of all course and program requirements.

b) Fail stipulating the conditions that must be met before the students is eligible to retake the exam. If a student has completed all course work, he or she must be enrolled in the semester of graduation. A student may enroll in UNIV 6100, a one-hour course, to meet this requirement.
Although there is no "one way" to prepare for Comprehensive Exams, students are encouraged throughout the program to keep textbooks, class papers and projects as possible resources. Additionally, forming study groups the semester before the comprehensive exam is scheduled to take place can be a valuable process. In addition, the following study materials are recommended:

Goleman (1995) best describes this concept: “emotional intelligence - abilities such as being able to motivate oneself and persist in the face of frustrations; to control impulse and delay gratification; to regulate one’s mood and keep distress from swamping the ability to think; to empathize and to hope” (p.34).

4. Individual Counseling Sessions and Reaction Paper
The purpose of this assessment activity is to determine your ability to reflect and apply what you learned in personal counseling. As a future counselor, it is important that you experience what it’s like to be a client and engage in self-awareness and reflection. I also want you to experience the benefits of counseling, such as improved mental health, life satisfaction, hope, and resilience. For this task, you are required to attend a minimum of five, one-hour, counseling sessions for the purpose of personal growth. You may complete this assignment via graduate students enrolled in advanced program courses like COUN 6369-Internship I (no fees are required) or via the University Counseling and Psychological Services center (no fees are required) or your own chosen Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC; fees may be required). You will be given a form that your counselor must sign verifying completion of this requirement. The content of your sessions will not be requested or discussed. Rather, inquiry about your attendance and reflection in the process will be sought. Students are required to space sessions throughout the semester (e.g., one session every other week). Doubling up of sessions (e.g., 2 sessions within a one week time frame) is not recommended. Attendance, cancellation, or doubling up of sessions will be reflected in the Individual Counseling Session grade. If there are any conflicts of interest or concerns related to this assignment, please bring this to my attention as soon as possible.

After completion of the 5 sessions, you will be required to write a reaction paper to your counseling experience (e.g., initial reaction to assignment, experience in personal counseling, and what you’ve learned/gained as a result of the counseling experience).
CACREP Standards: K.2.b, K.2.c, K.3.c, K.3.d, SC.A.9, SC.C.2.a, CC.C.7
NCATE Standards: Interculturalism, inquiry, pedagogical leadership, and interrelatedness.
TEA Standards: I.6, I.13, V.1, VI.1, VI.2

5. In-Class Activities: Students are expected to participate and engage during class. This includes, but is not limited to, participating in in-class assignments, group discussions & group exercises. Participation is also measured in attendance & punctuality to class. It should be noted that attendance and punctuality is expected and will be excused only under special circumstances as determined by the instructor. Given that true learning takes place in discussion and interaction with others where students express and articulate their ideas, participation is a crucial aspect of this course.

Attendance and punctuality are mandatory and the responsibility of the student. More than one absence will result in the lowering of a letter grade. More than 3 lapses in punctuality will be equivalent to an absence. Any excused absence is left to the discretion of the instructor.

All assignments should be typed. No handwritten work will be accepted. No late work will be accepted unless arrangements are made with the instructor.

Means of Assessment—Grades will be determined according to the student’s performance on the requirements for this course. The grading system will be based on the following weight distribution with a possible total of 100%. The grading system will be based on the UTRGV Grading System Policies and Procedures. The final grade will be based on the following requirements:

OTHER COURSE AND PROGRAM POLICIES

Class Participation:
Students are expected to attend, participate and engage in ALL classes. This includes, but is not limited to, participating in in-class assignments, group discussions, peer observations, and group exercises. Attendance and assignments of the C & G Faculty Seminar Series and reading list will be included in the participation grade. It should be noted that attendance and punctuality is expected and will be excused only under special circumstances as determined by the instructor. Given that true learning takes place in discussion and interaction with others where students express and articulate their ideas, participation is a crucial aspect of this course.

Make-up Policy: The student should, if possible, make arrangements in advance for make-up work. If advance notice is not possible, arrangements can be made with the instructor for make-up work, provided the absence is explained and legitimate, i.e. sickness, death in family, etc. Late submissions without legitimate excuses will not receive full credit; each assignment will drop 5 points for each day it is late. Make-up work will only be considered on a one to one basis with communication with the instructor.

Written Assignments:
All written assignments must be done according to APA guidelines. The APA Publication Manual (6th ed.) is a recommended textbook for this class. All work must be typed. Work should be double-spaced, with a 12-point Times New Roman font. Graduate-level written expression is expected, and grammatical errors and misspellings are subject to a decrease in grade. If you struggle with your writing, I strongly encourage the use of the writing center on campus. (Grade will reflect writing style.)

Student Responsibility:

The student is ultimately responsible for becoming familiar with all graduate and program requirements and general information listed in the catalog for the M.Ed. Degree in Counseling & Guidance. The student is also responsible for becoming familiar with any certification and licensure requirements, application processes, and deadlines that apply to him/her.

Students’ Academic Responsibilities

Students are expected to be diligent in their studies and attend class regularly and on time. Students are responsible for all class work and assignments by reading assigned material before class and turn in required assignments on time. Students should give themselves plenty of time to study for exams beforehand; cramming the day of or the night before is not recommended.

Student Professionalism

Professionalism can best be described as the ability to manage your emotions and handle relationships. In other words, a professional is a socially skilled or emotionally intelligent person. Goleman (1995) best describes this concept: “emotional intelligence - abilities such as being able to motivate oneself and persist in the face of frustrations; to control impulse and delay gratification; to regulate one's mood and keep distress from swamping the ability to think; to empathize and to hope” (p.34). Students are expected to exercise professionalism at all times.

Evaluation of your coursework may be affected by unprofessional behavior (e.g., cheating, plagiarism, breaking confidentiality, unwillingness to work with peers, consistently not being prepared for class, excessive tardies/absences, and/or other related behaviors). The consequences of these behaviors may range from (but not limited to) a simple reprimand to DF grade, a failing final grade, being dropped from the course, or my recommendation to be dropped from the Counseling and Guidance Program.

Confidentiality

Confidentiality will strictly be enforced. You will be expected to observe this ethical standard by not sharing any information of a personal nature shared in class with anyone outside of class. Breach of this ethical standard will constitute basis for dismissal from the Guidance and Counseling program with a grade of F in the course.
Due to the nature of the course, absolutely no recording is allowed. All cell phones, IPads, tablets, etc., must be turned off during class. For emergency cases or other important situations, see your instructor before class begins. Use of laptops must be limited to class-related activities. Please do not use laptops for e-mail, to check social media, to complete assignments, etc. during class.

Dual Relationships

In the process of this course, you may experience significant self-reflection that could result in the emergence of unresolved personal conflict. There are times when the discussions, assignments, and activities in counseling psychology programs appear very similar to personal therapeutic opportunities; however, this course is intended for academic purposes only. It is not a therapeutic environment for you personally. Although the faculty are available to help you formulate plans to address any personal issues that unexpectedly emerge as a result of this very introspective process and to support you in enacting your plan, please be aware that they are not available to facilitate a therapeutic experience for you, as it would introduce an inappropriate and unethical dual role for them to engage in a personal therapeutic process with students. Faculty is here to facilitate an academic experience. You are encouraged to develop a plan that allows you to address personal issues that may arise for you as a result of this process, and you will be encouraged to activate this plan if needed. Also, please be aware of the Counseling and Psychological Services, which are available through UTRGV. You can contact Counseling and Psychological Services by calling 956-665-2574. We engage in these activities to teach, but do not offer support through the Counseling and Psychological Services Division.

Work Format

All work submitted must be typed. Work should be double-spaced, with a 12-point Times New Roman font. The APA Publication Manual (6th ed.) is a recommended textbook for this class. APA format is required. Graduate-level written expression is expected, and grammatical errors and misspellings are subject to a decrease in grade.

Class Participation and Attendance:

Students are expected to participate and engage during class. This includes, but is not limited to, participating in in-class assignments, group discussions, peer observations, and group exercises. Attendance and assignments of the C & G Faculty Seminar Series and reading list will be included in the participation grade. Participation is also measured in attendance & punctuality to class and individual supervision meetings with instructor and designated clinic supervisor. It should be noted that attendance and punctuality is expected and will be excused only under special circumstances as determined by the instructor. Given that true learning takes place in discussion and interaction with others where students express and articulate their ideas, participation is a crucial aspect of this course.

Attendance Policy:

Prompt and regular attendance is mandatory. The student may be asked to drop the class after one absence. Multiple tardies of fifteen (15) minutes or more will also be considered an absence. Students leaving early before class is dismissed will also be considered absent. Should the student be allowed to remain in class after one absence because of extenuating circumstances, five (5) points will be taken off the final course grade for each additional absence after the first absence (includes leaving early before class is dismissed). Two (2) points will be taken off for each tardy less than 15 minutes and five (5) points for tardies 15 minutes or more.

It is your responsibility to become aware of important university deadlines including the last day to withdraw from the course.

Make-up Policy:

The student should, if possible, make arrangements in advance for make-up work. If advance notice is not possible, arrangements can be made with the instructor for make-up work provided the absence is explained and legitimate, i.e. sickness, death in family, etc. Anyone who is absent whenever materials are distributed in class must make arrangements to pick up these materials at the instructor’s office. Point deduction may be applied to assignments turned in late. Make-up work will only be considered on a one to one basis with communication with the instructor.

Student Responsibility:

The student is ultimately responsible for becoming familiar with all graduate and program requirements and general information listed in the catalog he/she is following for the M.Ed. Degree in Counseling & Guidance. The student is also responsible for becoming familiar with any certification and licensure requirements, application processes and deadlines that apply to him/her.

Grading Policies
State the course grading policy. Include graded assignments, weighting, and how late work will be treated. All major graded assignments should be described, at least briefly. UTRGV’s grading policy is to use straight letter grades (A, B, C, D, or F).

Students should contact the instructor in advance of the excused absence and arrange to make up missed work or examinations.

SCHOLASTIC INTEGRITY:
As members of a community dedicated to Honesty, Integrity and Respect, students are reminded that those who engage in scholastic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary penalties, including the possibility of failure in the course and expulsion from the University. Scholastic dishonesty includes but is not limited to: cheating, plagiarism (including self-plagiarism), and collusion; submission for credit of any work or materials that are attributable in whole or in part to another person; taking an examination for another person; any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student; or the attempt to commit such acts. Since scholastic dishonesty harms the individual, all students and the integrity of the University, policies on scholastic dishonesty will be strictly enforced (Board of Regents Rules and Regulations and UTRGV Academic Integrity Guidelines). All scholastic dishonesty incidents will be reported to the Dean of Students.

SEXUAL HARASSMENT, DISCRIMINATION, and VIOLENCE:
In accordance with UT System regulations, your instructor is a “Responsible Employee” for reporting purposes under Title IX regulations and so must report any instance, occurring during a student’s time in college, of sexual assault, stalking, dating violence, domestic violence, or sexual harassment about which she/he becomes aware during this course through writing, discussion, or personal disclosure. More information can be found at www.utrgv.edu/equity, including confidential resources available on campus. The faculty and staff of UTRGV actively strive to provide a learning, working, and living environment that promotes personal integrity, civility, and mutual respect that is free from sexual misconduct and discrimination.

COURSE DROPS:

According to UTRGV policy, students may drop any class without penalty earning a grade of DR until the official drop date. Following that date, students must be assigned a letter grade and can no longer drop the class. Students considering dropping the class should be aware of the “3-peat rule” and the “6-drop” rule so they can recognize how dropped classes may affect their academic success. The 6-drop rule refers to Texas law that dictates that undergraduate students may not drop more than six courses during their undergraduate career. Courses dropped at other Texas public higher education institutions will count toward the six-course drop limit. The 3-peat rule refers to additional fees charged to students who take the same class for the third time.

Required Reading List for Graduate Students in Counseling & Guidance Program

This is a reading list for graduate students in the Counseling & Guidance Program. This list contains works, which we consider classic readings in the profession and which provide a basic theoretical orientation to the field of psychotherapy and counseling. Familiarity with them will strengthen your own understanding of the graduate studies in which you are embarking and begin to form a basis for your own library of professional materials. We recommend that you read one or two books each semester, as they will help you to better prepare for the comprehensive program exams. These readings can also support your ability to successfully prepare a portfolio and to complete licensure examinations. You will be required to read 10 books out of this list.

As you progress through your program of study, you may be required to read additional textbooks and other resource materials specific to the various classes in which you are enrolled such as Marriage & Family, Group Counseling, Substance Abuse, and Career Counseling to name a few.

Enjoy your readings,
Counseling & Guidance Faculty
