REQUIRED TEXTBOOK: Strategic Management: Competitiveness & Globalization by:

COURSE OBJECTIVES:
This course is often referred to as the “capstone course” because most business students take it after passing through other more functionally-oriented courses such as marketing, operations, accounting, finance and introductory management. Accordingly, this course is designed to help students view business organizations as enterprise systems integrating ALL functional units within their structure. Throughout this course, students will have an opportunity to examine business organizations from a strategic and global perspective. In other words, they will assume a senior management role in analyzing businesses and their environment. The following are the major goals of the course:

1. Demonstrate a critical examination of strategic issues involving modern, complex business organizations.

2. Identify the knowledge and skills required to perform formal strategic analysis of business environments.

3. Describe the process of formulation and implementation of business and corporate strategies in business organizations.

4. Apply rational and analytical techniques to solve multi-functional and multicultural strategic problems.

5. Illustrate the skills required for framing, analyzing and reporting strategic issues in business organizations.
STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES: The following table summarizes important skills and competencies, along with their specific measures, students will be able to acquire by taking this course.

COURSE ORGANIZATION & ONLINE TOOLS

Course Structure:
This course will be delivered entirely online through the course management system Blackboard Learn. You will use your UTRGV account to login to the course from the My UTRGV site and under applications click on Blackboard Learn. This course provides an in-depth overview of the strategic formulation, implementation and evaluation processes in modern business organizations. Each week, we will cover book chapters covering specific strategic topics. There will be corresponding discussion topics involving short business cases on the covered topics. The course will involve three multiple choice exams (including final exam), two individual case analyses and five required discussion postings. The course is organized into weeks of instruction, as outlined in the Course Schedule and Due Dates below. Each week is listed by its main topic and contains required readings, discussion forum assignments, and individual case analyses.

Forums versus Email: If you have a question about course content or mechanics, I encourage you to post it to the General Help discussion forums. Doing so gives students in the course an opportunity to help one another and allows everyone to benefit from answers to your questions. Of course, don’t hesitate to email me directly if your concern is of a personal nature.

My role in discussion forums is that of a facilitator. I will occasionally correct misconceptions and/or redirect conversations that need redirecting. I may also post comments following the completion of discussion indicating my general impressions of the comments and conclusions.

SCHOLASTIC INTEGRITY:
As members of a community dedicated to Honesty, Integrity and Respect, students are reminded that those who engage in scholastic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary penalties, including the possibility of failure in the course and expulsion from the University. Scholastic dishonesty includes but is not limited to: cheating, plagiarism, and collusion; submission for credit of any work or materials that are attributable in whole or in part to another person; taking an examination for another person; any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student; or the attempt to commit such acts.

Since scholastic dishonesty harms the individual, all students and the integrity of the University, policies on scholastic dishonesty will be strictly enforced (Board of Regents Rules and Regulations and UTRGV Academic Integrity Guidelines). All scholastic dishonesty incidents will be reported to the Dean of Students. EXAMS: There will be four exams during the semester (Exam I, Exam II, Exam III and the final exam). Each exam will consist of multiple choice questions drawn from the topics covered in the lecture. The final exam will cover the general themes covered during the semester. Study guides and reviews will be available before exams. Make-up exams are allowed only if you can reasonably prove (via paper documentation) that you have encountered unforeseen circumstances during the normal scheduled time and hence couldn’t take the exam.

INDIVIDUAL CASE ANALYSES: The main purpose of these assignments is to enhance your communication, analytical and critical thinking and problem-solving skills. You will be required to prepare two individual case analysis reports as part of course requirements. The first case analysis covers issues of strategic formulation, implementation and evaluation. It will be due October 30th, 11:59pm. The second case analysis primarily involves issues of social responsibility and ethical decision-making in a global context. It will be due November 29th, 11:59pm. For each case students prepare a report using the detailed guideline provided by the instructor. This guideline will be available in blackboard. Each case analysis report represents 20 percent of the overall course grade. Both assignments should be submitted using SafeAssign in Blackboard Learn.
WEEKLY DISCUSSION POSTINGS: There are EIGHT discussion questions during the semester accounting for 20% of the overall course grade (40 points). Each post will be graded out of 5 maximum points. You are required to post your comments and thoughts on ALL of these discussion topics. Each week’s posting is due on Fridays at 11:59pm. The instructor evaluates your discussion posting using the rubric below. You may consider this rubric in preparing your postings.

Participation
Online courses require your active participation. Here are some tips for success:

- In discussion forums, you learn from one another by posing questions, justifying your comments, and providing multiple perspectives. When you prepare for discussions through thoughtful reflection, you contribute to your own successful learning experience as well as to the experience of your peers.
- Log in to the course frequently (at least several times per week for long semesters and daily for summer sessions) and check the announcements. This will keep you apprised of any course updates, progress in discussions, assignment information, and messages requiring immediate attention.
- Be aware of and keep up with the Course Schedule in the Syllabus.

Complete Assignments
All assignments for this course will be submitted electronically through Blackboard unless otherwise instructed. Assignments and discussions must be submitted by the given deadline or special permission must be requested from instructor before the due date. Extensions will not be given beyond the next assignment except under extreme circumstances.

Communication Skills
All students must have adequate writing skills to communicate content in a professional and concise manner. Students must be proficient in their written presentations including strategies for developing ideas, citing scholarly references, writing style, wording, phrasing, and using language conventions. Students must follow APA guidelines, use non-racist and non-sexist language, and include sufficient references to support their thesis and ideas in the paper.

Time Commitment
Online courses are typically just as time intensive, and may be more rigorous than traditional courses. As you begin this course, you would be wise to schedule 8 or more hours per week for studying materials and completing assignments. Falling behind in this course is particularly problematic because the concepts we cover are cumulative.
This means that not becoming proficient with information and objectives presented and assessed in a particular week can lead to low scores for that week as well as in subsequent weeks.

Understand When You May Drop This Course
It is the student’s responsibility to understand when they need to consider de-enrolling from a course. Refer to the UTRGV Course Schedule for dates and deadlines for registration. After this period, a serious and compelling reason is required to drop from the course. Serious and compelling reasons includes: (1) documented and significant change in work hours, leaving student unable to attend class, or (2) documented and severe physical/mental illness/injury to the student or student’s family.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES: Students with a documented disability (physical, psychological, learning, or other disability which affects academic performance) who would like to receive academic accommodations should contact Student Accessibility Services (SAS) as soon as possible to schedule an appointment to initiate services. Accommodations can be arranged through SAS at any time, but are not retroactive. Students who suffer a broken bone, severe injury or undergo surgery during the semester are eligible for temporary services. Brownsville Campus: Student Accessibility Services is located in Cortez Hall Room 129 and can be contacted by phone at (956) 882-7374 (Voice) or via email at ability@utrgv.edu. Edinburg Campus: Student Accessibility Services is located in 108 University Center and can be contacted by phone at (956) 665-7005 (Voice), (956) 665-3840 (Fax), or via email at ability@utrgv.edu.

SEXUAL HARASSMENT, DISCRIMINATION, and VIOLENCE: In accordance with UT System regulations, your instructor is a “responsible employee” for reporting purposes under Title IX regulations and so must report any instance, occurring during a student’s time in college, of sexual assault, stalking, dating violence, domestic violence, or sexual harassment about which she/he becomes aware during this course through writing, discussion, or personal disclosure. More information can be found at www.utrgv.edu/equity, including confidential resources available on campus. The faculty and staff of UTRGV actively strive to provide a learning, working, and living environment that promotes personal integrity, civility, and mutual respect in an environment free from sexual misconduct and discrimination.

MANDATORY COURSE EVALUATION PERIOD:

Students who complete their evaluations will have priority access to their grades. Online evaluations will be available November 14th – December 4th for the Fall 2019 semester.
