COURSE OUTCOMES

It is expected that by the end of the semester the student will have learned:

1. Some basic Spanish structures to allow the student to acquire basic levels of reading, writing, speaking, listening skills in the target language. Students will also be familiar with some of the most important cultural information of Spanish-speaking groups.
2. Meaningful contextualized vocabulary related daily tasks and activities, such as the classroom, the family, the city, the description of people, and places.
3. The communicative skills needed to introduce oneself to someone, to identify people and things, ask questions, to talk about immediate needs, express preferences and likes, and discuss activities in the present and the past.
4. The way that Spanish-speakers live, study, and work in their countries and how Spanish-speakers in the U.S. are similar or different to other Spanish-speaking communities.

1. Descripción y objetivos del curso: This is a beginning Spanish course designed for non-Spanish speakers. The course will be student-oriented and thus involve considerable interactive work. It will require preparation at home, including online assignments. Specifically, this will entail learning vocabulary and verb forms in various contexts. Students who successfully complete Spanish 1312 will develop basic communicative skills in the Spanish language in the area of listening, speaking, reading, and writing through a variety of interactive audio and video activities. Students will also demonstrate understanding and appropriate application of basic grammatical aspects of the Spanish language. The course is designed to help the student learn enough Spanish to adequately communicate his/her basic needs in everyday life situations in a Spanish-speaking environment. The student will also demonstrate general familiarity with different aspects of the Spanish culture in Latin America, Spain, and the United States. The main language of this course will be Spanish, and you are discouraged from using or translating assignments from English or from any other language. This is a fundamental principle in order to practice Spanish as much as possible, and, under the guidance of your instructor, acquire the necessary communicative skills. This course is not intended for native Spanish speakers. Students who understand, speak, and write Spanish are cautioned not to take this course; they will better develop their language skills in online or face-to-face versions of Spanish 2313 and 2315.

2. Requisitos del curso: This course is delivered fully online through Blackboard (<https://mycourses.utrgv.edu>). For each capítulo there will be at least three quizzes and one exam. All Exámenes (exams) and Quizzes are based on the information presented on the course Blackboard page and in the course iLrn page (<https://hlc.quia.com/books>). In each capítulo you will be given a lecture/demonstration and then be expected to perform the assignments for each capítulo. Students will complete 4 major exams, and at least 12 chapter quizzes, and various assignments that may include oral, written, individual, and paired assignments. All assignments and assessments will be submitted online through the iLrn and/or the course Blackboard page. All students should have access to a microphone, high speed internet connection, Adobe Reader and Flash Player (can be downloaded for free at (<http://get.adobe.com>)). Most language labs on campus have the equipment necessary for students to complete the online assignments. Technical issues may occur, but they are not an excuse for late assignments or missing assignments. Students should manage their time so that minor delays due to technical problems do not result in missing deadlines. Students are expected to contact the IT Service Desk (956-665-2020) or COLTT if technical problems are experienced.

3. Evaluación del curso:

	Exámenes (4):	40%
	Tareas (4):	30%
	Quizzes (12):	15%
	Discusiones (3):	15%

4. Exámenes (Exams). There will be four Exámenes (exams) in this course. The Exámenes are not cumulative, that is, they will only test you on what was covered after the last exam. Each Examen will cover one Capítulo (5-8). There is no final exam. The specific dates for these exams are stipulated in your syllabus and they consist of the assigned Exámenes found on each chapter Examen at iLrn. Exámenes are due on the day indicated before midnight (11:59pm, Central Time). Students only have one attempt to get the correct answer in all online Exámenes (exams). Each Examen will cover the following sections: listening, vocabulary, grammar, reading, writing, and culture. Extensions will not be given under any circumstances for online assignment and assessments, as students will have at least 24 hours to complete each assignment and assessment.

5. Quizzes. Each quiz includes material from the different sections presented in that chapter (mainly vocabulary and grammar). The specific dates for these quizzes are stipulated in your syllabus and they consist of the assigned quizzes of all Capítulos at iLrn. Quizzes are due on the day indicated before midnight (11:59pm, Central Time). If applicable, the instructor will correct the quiz within 48 hours (excluding weekends). There will be at least 12 quizzes throughout the semester. It is important to study the content in Paso 1, Paso 2 and Paso 3 before taking each quiz. An important part of the chapter exams will be based on the material in these sections. Students only have one attempt to get the correct answer in all quizzes Instructor may opt to assign an average of all the Quizzes taken online (e.g. 3 iLrn quizzes in C6 / 3 = Bb grade for C6 Quizzes).

6. Tareas (Activities): The homework indicated in the syllabus needs to be completed on that due date. Tareas will be completed online at iLrn <https://hlc.quia.com/books> under Assignment Calendar – Capítulo – and the assigned activities. For homework activities, depending on instructor, students may be allowed multiple attempts (2 or 3). If that is the case, your final score for an assignment will be based on your highest score attempt. Tareas are due on the day indicated before midnight (11:59pm, Central Time). See each chapter overview and estimated time, so you can plan ahead.

7. Discusiones (Discussion Board): There are 3 or 4 Discussion Board topics (see each chapter overview in Blackboard for due dates and details). You are required to post one original message to the current topic, as well as to reply to one of your classmate's postings by the deadline stated in the lesson's due dates. Credit will not be given for messages that are posted past the deadline. The first topic is to introduce yourself. Most topics will be taken from the information on different videos in Spanish. The rest of the videos come from the Spanish in Texas Corpus, a collection of video interviews with bilingual Spanish speakers in Texas (Bullock, Barbara E. and Toribio, Almeida Jacqueline. 2013. The Spanish in Texas Corpus Project. COERLL, The University of Texas at Austin.), found in COERLL's Spin TX page: <http://www.coerll.utexas.edu/spintx/home>. Specific instructions and links will be provided in Blackboard. Students should watch the videos first in order to be prepared to participate in the Discussion Board. All comments posted as part of Discusiones must show respect towards others. Any student writing inappropriate remarks will be voided from participating in Discusiones and will lose 15% of total course grade. Serious offenses may be grounds for expulsion from the course and will be turned to University administrations and/or authorities. Inappropriate behavior in the online classroom will be dealt with seriously and will be resolved according to HOP regulation. See section below on Online Classroom conduct for more details.

8. Participación y carga de trabajo (work load): Although attendance may not seem critical in an online course, lack of participation in the course will be considered an absence. If students log into an online course without active participation the first week of classes, they will be considered "no-show" and may be withdrawn from the course. To keep good attendance you need to log on to the course regularly (at least three times a week) and maintain e-mail communication with the instructor when appropriate. Given the asynchronous nature of the course, there are no make-ups for on-line assignments and evaluations. Students will have at least 24 hours to complete every on-line assignment and evaluation. In cases of predetermined absences due to military or health related events, documentation must be presented before you leave in order to make arrangements with your instructor as to when assignments will be turned in and evaluations will be taken, failure to do so voids any possibility of negotiating with instructor (See also ATTENDANCE below). Official documentation with military letterhead and a personal explanation from your supervisor stating that you will not have internet communication for the specified amount of time is needed. Cases of hospitalization require documentation with hospital letterhead and a personal explanation from your doctor stating that you were unconscious and unable to use a computer. Instructor may opt to communicate with supervisor or doctor. Be aware that university policy may dictate against long absences from class. If that is the case, instructor may opt to get University administration involved to determine whether the student's best option is to postpone enrolling in that particular course. One day visits to a doctor, clinic or hospital do not apply. A grade must be assigned to every student enrolled in the course at the end of the semester. It is the responsibility of the student to withdraw in order to avoid any undesired grade. An online course requires a more intense participation on the part of the student than a face-to-face course. Learning and applying the material in a useful way becomes the student's responsibility, while the instructor takes on more the role of a facilitator. Be aware that in order to comply with the amount of work required for this course, you will have to invest at least close to 10 hours per week. The course itself is flexible with respect to time, but there are due dates for all assignments and evaluations. It is the student's responsibility to enroll in the correct class and to complete assignments and evaluations before due date, failure to do so will the overall grade in this course.

9. Communicating with your instructor Your instructor will correspond with you through the UTRGV Blackboard course via e-mail and/or announcements. Although you may receive notifications in your personal email account, your responses may also be made in Blackboard if instructor advises. It is your responsibility to check Course Discussion Forums, e-mail, and announcements on a daily basis. In the event that Blackboard is down or if the instructor advises, you may email the instructor directly to his/her e-mail. All correspondence to the instructor at this email address must come from your UTRGV student e-mail address and must contain the course you are enrolled in within the email subject line. Your instructor will make every attempt to respond to your emails within 24 hours, except on weekends and holidays. Any technical questions should be directed to the UTRGV IT Help Desk (956-665-2020). Please refrain from emailing your instructor with personal problems, and/or technical issues, that are outside the instructor's and/or the University's control.

10. Integridad académica. Absolutely no cheating will be tolerated. Your assignment will not count towards your grade and you will not be able to make it up in any way. You may use tutoring services or other reference materials, but you must do your own work and not ask anyone else to do it for you. If you have any questions regarding academic integrity, ask your professor before you take any action. See also SCHOLASTIC INTEGRITY below.

11. Online Classroom Conduct: All students are expected to help maintain an online classroom environment that is conducive to learning. To ensure that all students have the opportunity to gain from their time spent online, they are prohibited from engaging in any form of disruptive behavior (making offensive remarks in discussions, missing deadlines, etc). Any offense of this kind may result in student being dropped from class by instructor. Inappropriate behavior in the online classroom will be dealt with seriously and will be resolved according to University regulation as in any other course. Follow the basic rules of Netiquette: Never email or post anything that you wouldn't say to your online interlocutor's face. You are expected to abide by the following rules of netiquette in this course.

1. When you are "speaking" / communicating with someone online – think about how and what you are "saying".

2. Pay attention to spelling and grammar. Others are reading your work: do not make it difficult for them by using poor spelling and grammar. In addition, there is no place for inappropriate language in this course.
3. Share your knowledge with others. Post in the discussion boards in a timely manner. Other course members may be waiting for you so they can post replies or finish an assignment – do not make them wait until the deadline. This is not fair and it may suggest that you are not setting aside appropriate time for your coursework.

12. Copyright Statement: All material used in the course, and all instructional resources on Blackboard is intended for use only by students registered and enrolled in this course and are only to be used for instructional use, activities associated with, and for the duration of the course.

13. Students with Disabilities: If you have a documented disability (physical, psychological, learning, or other disability which affects your academic performance) and would like to receive academic accommodations, please inform your instructor and contact Student Accessibility Services to schedule an appointment to initiate services. It is recommended that you schedule an appointment with Student Accessibility Services before classes start. However, accommodations can be provided at any time. Brownsville Campus: Student Accessibility Services is located in Cortez Hall Room 129 and can be contacted by phone at (956) 882-7374 (Voice) or via email at accessibility@utrgv.edu. Edinburg Campus: Student Accessibility Services is located in 108 University Center and can be contacted by phone at (956) 665-7005 (Voice), (956) 665-3840 (Fax), or via email at accessibility@utrgv.edu. Special accommodations will be dictated by the documentation offered by SAS and not by the student, and the student does not decide when exams and quizzes are taken, date and time is dictated by syllabus. If a student fails to take an evaluation or to turn in an assignment on a specified date, official documentation must be presented. The same restrictions apply as in Section 7. Any student that decides to take evaluations in class will have the same amount of time as peers.

MANDATORY COURSE EVALUATION PERIOD:

Students are required to complete an ONLINE evaluation of this course, accessed through your UTRGV account (<http://my.utrgv.edu>); you will be contacted through email with further instructions. Online evaluations will be available April 12 – May 3, 2017. Students who complete their evaluations will have priority access to their grades.
